Mental Health Advance Directive

If you think you might need mental health treatment in the future, a Mental Health Advance Directive from <https://www.myflfamilies.com/sites/default/files/2022-11/mhadvdir.pdf> can help make your wishes clear. This document lets you decide now what types of treatment you do or do not want. It also allows you to choose a trusted friend or family member to make decisions on your behalf if you are unable to do so.

To complete your Mental Health Advance Directive, follow these steps:

1. Review the Form – Read each section carefully. If you have questions, talk with your case manager, doctor, or another trusted person.
2. Choose a Healthcare Surrogate – Pick someone who is:
 - At least 18 years old
 - Mentally competent
 - Not a mental health professional, employee of a facility that may treat you, or an employee of the Department of Children & Families
3. Ensure Their Willingness – Make sure your surrogate understands your wishes and is willing to take responsibility. You can also name a backup (alternate) surrogate.
4. Sign the Form with Witnesses – You and your surrogate(s) must sign the form in front of two witnesses.
5. Distribute Copies – Share copies with your surrogate, family members, doctor, case manager, hospital, or crisis unit where you might receive treatment. Discuss your choices with them.
6. Keep Your Directive Updated – You can change your advance directive at any time while you are competent. If you travel, carry a copy with you.

When Your Advance Directive Takes Effect

Your advance directive only takes effect if a doctor determines you are not able to make your own treatment decisions. If you are in a psychiatric facility, you will have a lawyer and a hearing before a judge or hearing master. A healthcare surrogate cannot approve treatment for someone on voluntary status.
